Does your child need to improve writing skills? Learn to improve critical thinking? Master grammar and the mechanics of writing? The Common Core standards have changed for Language Arts and we have updated our curriculum to coordinate those changes.

For many students, writing is one of their weakest subjects. It's evidenced by the multitude of college students having to take remedial English courses. Good writing skills must be built over time from the early grades on. We offered our first enrichment writing classes four years ago. Last year's students said they wanted the class to be twice a week even after a whole year together!

The course will cover the following elements:

- Brilliant Beginnings, Main Idea, Details, Writing Process
- Personal Narrative, Time Order,
- Descriptive Writing, Compare and Contrast, Letters
- The use of Idioms to Enhance Writing
- Writing to Entertain, Creative Fiction
- Persuasive, Facts, Opinion, Advertising
- Explanatory, Cause and Effect
- Information Reports, Bias
- Critical Thinking and Reading Comprehension

Throughout the course, students will read provocative short stories, such as, the Harris Burdick collection, H. P. Lovecraft, and Edgar Allan Poe to build critical thinking, vocabulary enrichment and writing fluency. Confidence will build by emphasizing skills in the areas of:

WRITING GRAMMAR PUNCTUATION VOCABULARY

These skills will help your child improve communication abilities, excel in all academic areas, and increase scores on standardized tests. Fun writing contests with prizes are included!
